Pōwhiri (Welcome Ceremony)

The pōwhiri is a custom associated with the welcoming and hosting of visitors. Visitors are welcomed along with the spirits of their ancestors.

For the ACPAC 2009 Conference, the Manuhiri (Visitors) will be received by the Tangata Whenua (Hosts) on Parliament’s forecourt.

The receiving of the guests will begin by a warrior coming out from the Tangata Whenua performing the Taiaha. This is a challenge towards the Manuhiri, placing before them a rakau (twig or leaf). Once the warrior has placed the rakau on the ground and has moved away he will indicate to the roopu to uplift the rakau or leaf. Mr Jim Wilkinson, MP, from the Tasmanian Parliament will uplift the rākau.

The Putatara (the blowing of the Conch) follows this and indicates to the Manuhiri that the Pōwhiri and the Tangata Whenua are ready to receive the guests.

Following the Putatara is a Karanga—a call of welcome. The Tangata Whenua makes the call to the Manuhiri. There will be a response from the Manuhiri to the Tangata Whenua. Throughout the execution of the Karanga the Manuhiri will slowly move forward pausing just before the seats. While moving forward the group should try to stay close together.

Haka Pōwhiri – Welcome

While the Karanga is being delivered and the Manuhiri are moving forward the Kapa Haka (Welcoming Party) will be performing a welcome to the guests.
Te Oha – The Greeting

At this point and while the Haka Pōwhiri is taking place a select few from the Manuhiri will then move towards the Tangata Whenua to complete Te Oha—the custom in which the Tangata Whenua greet people. This is the shaking of hands and the pressing of noses. This act is carried out when two people shake hands, then come together, and lightly press noses twice. While this is taking place, the remainder of the group will then move towards the seats. Those persons supporting the speakers with the Waiata (song) should try to move to the immediate left so that when it is time to sing the waiata, everyone is together.

Seating arrangements

Once the shaking of hands and pressing of noses is completed, the selected few will then be directed to seats that have been allocated for them. Seats will be set aside for the speakers on behalf of the Manuhiri. Once everyone has been seated the speeches will commence.

Whaikōrero – Speeches

The Whaikōrero format that the local iwi (tribe), Te Ātiawa, practise is that of Paeke, where all the Tangata Whenua speak first, once they have concluded the speeches they will indicate to the Manuhiri that they now have the opportunity to respond. Mr Jim Wilkinson will respond on behalf of the Manuhiri. Others are also welcome to respond.

Waiata – Song

At the completion of each speech, it is customary to have a song of support. The Manuhiri will need to identify a song of support for their speaker.

Once all the speeches have been concluded, the Tangata Whenua will end the ceremonial welcome with a ruruku.
