Centre for Democratic Institutions

Australia–Philippines Judicial Cooperation:
Judicial Study Tour
25 March – 1 April 2001
Sydney

Following discussions with Chief Justice Michael Black of the Federal Court of Australia and Chief Justice Hilario G. Davide of the Supreme Court of the Philippines in early 2000, the Centre for Democratic Institutions embarked on facilitating a program of judicial cooperation between the two countries and their senior judiciary.

The first year of the Judicial Cooperation Program comprised four distinct activities and the second year of the program will involve three activities:

- The visit by 6 Philippine judges
- The visit of Mr Ernest Schmatt, Director NSW Judicial Commission, to the Philippines
- The visit of Livingston Armytage to the Philippines for further judicial training.

The Study Tour by six judges from the Philippines to examine aspects of Australia's judicial system took place from 25 March – 1 April 2001. The program was funded by CDI and scheduled by the Federal Court of Australia and CDI. A special thanks goes to Justice Bryan Beaumont and his staff for their exhaustive efforts to accommodate the delegates.

Discussions during Justice Beaumont's visit to Manila last year determined that the Philippine judges would like to view the handling of commercial issues in the Federal Court. Consequently the delegation sat in on a wide range of commercial cases, usually related to and following a briefing on the Federal Court's handling procedures for specialised areas of law. Over the week the delegates learned about the following aspects of the Federal Court: case management and the docket system, the panel system for handling specialised areas of federal law, the protocol and mechanics of videoconferencing in court, the 'self-administering' structure of the Federal Court and its implications for the handling of justice, and some innovative court procedures prominent amongst which was the 'hot-tub' method of expert evidence collection.

The delegates viewed some 7 hours of court proceeding and discussed these and other issues with Justices and Registrars at length over the five days.

The evaluation of the program undertaken by the participants indicated that they were very happy with all aspects of the program, felt unanimously that they had gained a great deal from the visit and were encouraging of the extension of the program to their judicial colleagues in the Philippines, and the benefits that would flow to the Philippines.
